

Be Prepared

Here are some things you need to know. Be prepared—

- ✓ To commit yourself wholeheartedly
  - ✓ To spend 11 months away from your home country
- ✓ To raise financial support for your time in the dorm – and watch God provide!
  - ✓ To be challenged by God in new ways
- ✓ To make some sacrifices
  - ✓ To experience a new cultures, foods and languages.
- ✓ To see God at work and be a part of God’s bigger plan
  - ✓ To start work on the 1st of August, and be finished in June

We Did It

Tyson Conner, USA

As a boarding home assistant, I saw a bit of the support system that keeps missionaries and their families on the field and healthy spiritually, emotionally, and physically. Being a part of that support system wasn't always glamorous, but it was rewarding, and it was necessary. Being a part of these kids' lives, even in small ways, is one of the most valuable things I've done.

Ermanno and Franzisca Vattolo, Switzerland

Our time in the dorm was an awesome experience. It was great to be part of the kids' lives and invest in this young generation. We learned a lot from each other. The intercultural context and closeness of the dorm family had a huge impact on our lives.

Anne Schuhmacher, Germany

Being a boarding home assistant was a great experience I'll never forget. Working and living in the big dorm family was sometimes very challenging, but I learned a lot. It was really fascinating to experience a little bit of the mission work in Asia and to be a part of it. It is an assignment where you can serve God and the kids with your gifts and help to build the Kingdom of God.
