

Sunday School resources

1. OMF Sunday School course

Japanese language Outline to course

This course is divided into 5 sections A-E.

- A: Using the text 'Seicho' students learn how to prepare messages in 4 units.

Each unit consists of, a copy of a page from Seicho, vocabulary lists, a worksheet, a children's song, and vocabulary practice. There is also a page of onomatopoeic expressions. Preparing the worksheet involves the following:

Reading the Bible passage, planning headings, choosing a memory verse, writing the message, composing a prayer and finally, making one's own vocabulary prompts from the talk and practicing speaking only from those prompts instead of reading. In Unit 1 there is a sample worksheet already done for the student who ultimately ends up with 3 prepared messages.

- B: Reading a talk not from Seicho and preparing one.
- C: Using English picture books to tell the story in Japanese and find a Biblical application
(A squash and a Squeeze' or 'Claude and Pepper' are used at OMF Japanese Language Center but any book suitable can be used for practicing oral composition in Japanese.)
- D: 表現法サプリメント A supplement of expressions used, for example, in prayer, introducing new children, in making things, playing games etc.
- E: Origami or crafts (if required)

2. Suggestions for learning children's language:

a. Watch tv programmes aimed at children e.g. NHK Educational's 'okaasan to issho' (「お母さんと一緒」) for small children or 'Chugakusei Nikki' (「中学生日記」) for older children.

b. Ask if you can attend a local kindergarten or primary school for a few days. With the emphasis on 'kokusai kooryuu' you may find they are delighted to have contact.

c. Child Evangelism Fellowship (CEF) sometimes has training sessions for Sunday School teachers where demonstration lessons are given. Find out if there are any in your area.
